Grading forums with multiple rubrics and feedback

Below is an example of what you could place in an Advanced grading marking guide type of rubric if you want to have multiple criteria in a forum activity and not just have a place to put student feedback while grading. Example shows 75 points for the student posting correctly and 25 points for replying correctly.

Posted information according to instructions
Description for students

Posted according to instructions
Description for Markers

Posted according to instructions
Maximum score 75

Replied to minimum posts according to instructions
Description for students

Replied to minimum posts according to instructions
Description for Markers

Replied to minimum posts according to instructions
Maximum score 25

Marking guide options

☐ Show guide definition to students

☑ Show marks per criterion to students

If you need help using rubrics, these links are also available under the Rubrics heading in the Instructor Tutorials.

Create a rubric

Edit a rubric

Duplicate rubric to use in a different activity

This is what you see when grading a forum with multiple rubrics.

Not graded
1 out of 3

Mickey Mouse ‹ ›

✏ Grading (Discussion Forum with multiple marking guide criteria)

Posted information according to instructions ⓘ ▾
Score out of 75

75

Additional comments

Good post, Mickey.

Replied to minimum posts according to instructions ⓘ ▾
Score out of 25

0

Additional comments

You forgot to reply to at least one classmate's post.