Assignment

If you did not submit an assignment that was due, a dash appears until the instructor changes the dash to a zero. Changing it to a zero will adjust your overall course grade.

Many instructors use rubrics to grade assignments. To see the rubrics (before or after submitting your assignments), use Moodlerooms Grader

Also, many instructors leave special comments to you in Moodlerooms Grader. And you can leave comments to the instructor.

Click the View grading marking guide button above to see the scored rubric for this assignment. You did a good job of responding to all of the questions on this assignment. Having a plan (and sticking with it) is important if you want to be successful, especially when taking online courses. Setting aside specific hours to devote to your online course(s) on certain days of the week is a very good method to prevent procrastinating and getting frustrated when you don't have time to complete an assignment by its due date. Good luck this semester!
